

Wapsie FFA Involved in the Community

By Lydia Martins, Chapter Reporter

On Saturday September 30th, the Wapsie Valley FFA chapter hosted their annual car wash to raise funds for their upcoming trip to National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, IN. The car wash was a free will donation and the customers received a full service. The members Jacob Risse, Dallas Wittenburg, Kaylee Kleitsch, Kennadi Neil, Hannah Miller, Anna Richards and Reese Welcher washed, scrubbed, and shined cars at Jerry's Auto in Fairbank. A huge thanks if offered to Jerry and Todd Kaufman for the use of his car wash facility, and to the community for their support.

In addition, every fall and spring, the Wapsie Valley FFA chapter holds an omelet breakfast fundraiser. On Sunday, October 1st, was held the fall omelet breakfast at the IC Hall in Fairbank. It was a great success, and the breakfasts are very important fundraisers for the chapter. In the fall, the omelet breakfast is especially important in raising money for the trip to National FFA Convention. Along with omelets, hash browns, sausage and cinnamon rolls and long johns were served. A large majority of the chapter's membership is involved in the omelet breakfasts, along with help from their parents. The chapter would like to thank the members and parents for their help and to the Immaculate Conception Church, Innovative Ag, Fairbank Food Center and NE Security Bank for their donations with this event. Without the great support of the community, the Wapsie Valley FFA Chapter would not have such great opportunities for its members.
